

THE GREAT CENTER

Klinkerman R.V.

Annotation. An author considers that in DNA there can not be all information, necessary for the construction of organism. It is suggested to consider a variant, when complete information is contained in zero vibrations of birth-elimination of microparticless, circumferential to organisms. On the gravity canals information is passed to the center of Earth, where detailed pictures and classes of organisms are formed. Center is provided by author with a capacity for creation, for participating in the evolution of life. Informative connection of Center with organisms it is possible to check experimentally.

Keywords: zero vibrations, microparticless, gravitation, information, Center, creation, organisms, evolution.

In author's paper [1] was expressed doubt, that all information, necessary for the construction of organism up to petty details, is contained in DNA.

Quotation:

Can in DNA all living creatures be coded? This encoding must include:

- 1) spatial structure of body up to petty details,
- 2) system of adjusting of organs functioning,
- 3) inherited conduct, including, for example, recognition of patterns,
- 4) program of development of organism from zigota to the grown one,
- 5) structure of cells and their organs, algorithms of functioning.

DNA is a chain of atoms, though very long: a man's chain is 2,2 meter long, but in it prevail empty, noninformative areas (to 95%).

End of quotation.

Supposition is done in the indicated work, that this information is kept in the fields and wave functions of microparticles. Not rejecting this hypothesis, in the present paper it is desirable to discuss other variant.

In author's paper [2] it was assumed that every body is surrounded by the field of zero vibrations of birth-elimination of microparticles.

Quotation:

In accordance with the quantum field theory, if there is not a particle in some state, in him there is as though a ghost of particle, zero oscillation on birth of particle, but not reach a birth. This «ghost» has a half of energy of particle in this state, and since such unfilled states are of endless great number, the total value of energy of «ghosts» is endless.

End of quotation.

It was assumed in paper that this «aura» is the gravity field. It is possible to do further supposition, that in a «aura» there is current information about a body. As this «aura» however is the gravity field of body, that body is attracted by Earth. We will assume that it is not simple mechanical attraction, but that on the line of attraction an information transfer goes «body - center of Earth». As in the area of Center information comes from many objects of the same type, for example, people, this information is summed up there, averaged, and on this base the essence of man is formed in general, but with all details. It can be equated with the ideas of Plato which he gave the real existence, not in the head of man. This essence is passed on that line from Center at birth and growth of man, so that the necessary informative providing takes place for development of organism.

Certainly, at development a child is formed not only on a standard matrix but also with individual features, determined both DNA and casual factors.

It is clearly that the said is related to all types of living creatures.

It is possible to go yet farther and to provide the Center with a capacity for creation: he not only provides living creatures by information but also influences on its evolution. In a book [3] shown, that nature of evolution on a large scale causes serious questions. If evolution within the limits of species it is possible to explain by Darwin natural selection, appearance of new constructions of organisms difficult to explain. But if the Center possesses creation, this question decides.

Existence of biological life is very complex co-operation of very complex molecules. Hard to propose that all of it appeared naturally by casual connections of chemical components. The last supposition ripens therefore: Center invented and generated biological life. Besides atoms which author's paper [1] provides with a capacity for creation also took part in becoming of life. Thus the origin of life is conditioned by activity both from above and from below.

As a result of all these suppositions turned out God. Only not on sky, but in a center of Earth, and the functions of him are much more realistic and more serious, than those which he is allotted by religions.

This hypothesis opens in principle possibility of telepathy on large distances - through the Center.

It is interesting that this hypothesis in part of providing information to organisms assumes the very real verification. It is needed to bring a laboratory on Mars, where analogical earthly conditions for organisms would be created, and to study reproduction and development of these creatures. The special attention needs to be spared to those organisms which are being born without connection with parents, i.e. that reproduce themselves by spores, seed, roe, eggs without hatching. It is possible to conclude from this, whether Earth is obligatory for earthly life. An analogical experiment on Lune can not give a distinct answer, as it is in the gravity field of Earth.
