Abstract

Consideration about "Adam`s rib".

It is possible to write:

Adam = YX

Eva = XX

This X can be called the Adam's rib.

And similarly for anything else.

It is enough to take a small part, divide and multiply it appropriately, give it structure, shape, initial impulse and breathe in life and create anything from an atom to a universe or some part of it. However, technical details may be more complicated and unattainable at some time.
